IA9100 DRAFT · ORGANIZATIONAL CULTURE AND ETHICS

Who would the inspector tell?

Seven things the draft asks for, each a record a small shop can start this month.

1. A code of conduct people can find
2. A concern channel that skips the supervisor
3. Every concern closed, with no penalty
4. Ethics awareness for everyone
5. Ethical behavior in your PO terms
6. One quality-culture objective
7. Culture named in the manual

Swipe: one action per page, with the record that proves it. The culture and ethics topic may still change in the final text of IA9100.

NEW IN THE DRAFT

Write a short code of conduct people can find

One or two pages in plain words, posted where people work and handed out at onboarding.

THE RECORD THAT PROVES IT

- ☐ The code of conduct, controlled, with its revision
- ☐ Where it is posted

> Sample plant: No code of conduct in its document register.

The culture and ethics topic may still change in the final text of IA9100.

NEW IN THE DRAFT

Give people a way to raise a concern that skips their supervisor

A named second person, a box or an email address. Confidential, and open to product-safety concerns.

THE RECORD THAT PROVES IT

- ☐ The channel, written into the code or a procedure

> Watch for: A channel that only runs through the person's own supervisor.

The culture and ethics topic may still change in the final text of IA9100.

NEW IN THE DRAFT

Close every concern, and protect the person

No penalty for raising a concern in good faith.

1 Raise
Any route, not only the supervisor

2 Look into it
Someone independent, with a date

3 Resolve
What was done, who was told

4 Close the log
Closed, the person thanked

THE RECORD THAT PROVES IT

- [ ] A concern log: date, who looked into it, outcome, closed

The culture and ethics topic may still change in the final text of IA9100.

ACTION 4 OF 7 · DRAFT 7.3

AS9100D TEXT, NOW PART OF A WIDER TOPIC

Make ethics awareness part of everyone's training

Everyone, not only managers, repeated at a set interval like any other refresher.

THE RECORD THAT PROVES IT

- ☐ The training matrix: an ethics-awareness line with a date and interval

> Sample plant: No ethics-awareness line on its training matrix.

The culture and ethics topic may still change in the final text of IA9100.

ACTION 5 OF 7 · DRAFT 8.4.3

AS9100D TEXT, NOW PART OF A WIDER TOPIC

Put ethical behavior in your purchase order terms

AS9100D already asks you to make suppliers aware of it. Check it is actually in your paperwork.

THE RECORD THAT PROVES IT

- ☐ The PO terms or supplier quality manual clause
- ☐ The flow-down register entry

> Sample plant: Nothing on ethical behavior in its flow-down register.

The culture and ethics topic may still change in the final text of IA9100.

NEW IN THE DRAFT

Set one quality-culture objective and review it

Pick something you can count: near-misses reported, concerns raised and closed, floor suggestions acted on.

THE RECORD THAT PROVES IT

- ☐ The objective, its measure and its owner
- ☐ The management review minute that reviewed it

> Watch for: "Improve our culture": an objective nobody can measure leaves no record.

The culture and ethics topic may still change in the final text of IA9100.

NEW IN THE DRAFT

Name culture in the manual and the work environment

A paragraph on how culture and ethical behavior support your system, and culture among the work-environment factors you monitor.

THE RECORD THAT PROVES IT

- ☐ The quality manual paragraph
- ☐ The work-environment factors, culture included

> Hold for the final text: Manual wording can wait. The code, the channel and the training can start now.

The culture and ethics topic may still change in the final text of IA9100.

THIS WEEK

Pick one. Keep the record.

1. Find, or write, the code of conduct
   Controlled code, where posted
2. Open a channel that skips the supervisor
   The channel, in writing
3. Start the concern log
   Date, investigation, outcome

TELL ME IN THE COMMENTS

How does someone in your shop raise a quality concern they don't want their name on?

The culture and ethics topic may still change in the final text of IA9100.